EDITORIAL

A BEAUTY SPOT OF V. H. S.

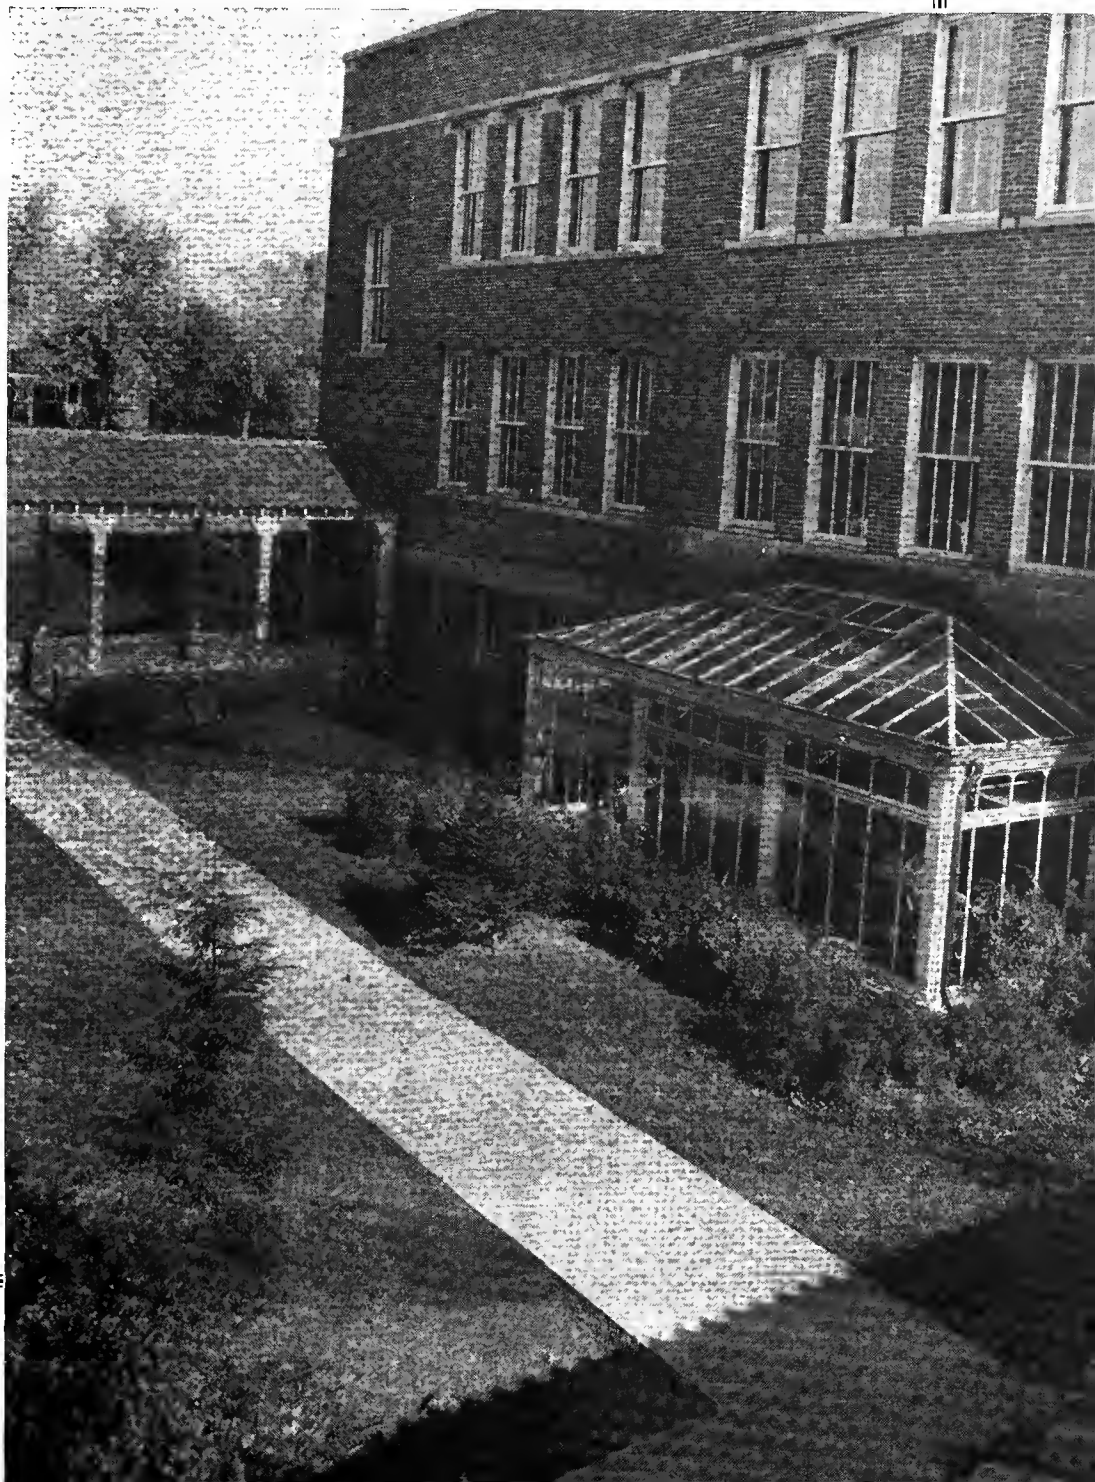

WE HAVE attempted in this book to capture that spirit of progress and service which characterizes today's world of journalism, and through it reflect the life of our school. If through our editorial methods, illustrations, and artistic decorations, we have in some measure imparted to you the crisp, modern, and efficient atmosphere which must hang over all journalistic endeavors, we have met with success.

TO THE spirit of industry, service, and efficiency which is the common heritage of this school with the great "fourth estate" of life itself, we, the Senior Class of 1937, dedicate this Valenian.

As these qualities and a sound policy create and perpetuate a newspaper, so do they stand responsible for Valparaiso High School's record of achievement. It is our belief that these qualities will remain long after this book is forgotten.

In Memoriam

HAZEL BUTLER

ON Saturday, February sixteenth, Miss Hazel Butler, an instructor in the Valparaiso High School, passed away. Her death was keenly felt by the faculty and student body alike.

As sponsor of the Senior Girl Reserves and as a friend to all, she was an important part of the school system and her passing made a vacancy hard to fill.

SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. Julian has made an enviable record since his coming to Valparaiso in the fall of 1930, and through his activities of the last seven years has made himself indispensable. Interested, democratic, kindly, he is a truly modern educator standing high in the esteem of the faculty and student body.

SCHOOL BOARD

Representing various walks of life, the Valparaiso School Board consists of a business man, a lawyer, and a minister.

Mr. McKay, Mr. Tilton, and the Reverend Mr. Wharton have served unselfishly upon this executive board for a number of years. Liberal and constructive, their administration has seen the school grow in size and improve in facilities year after year.

PRINCIPAL

Principal Homer M. Jessee is here seen in a characteristic pose, that of guiding and counseling one of the many students he comes in contact with daily.

Dynamic, energetic, efficient, his intensity is tempered by a keen sense of humor. His twenty-five years of service have made him the living personification of our high school, a true Hoosier School Master.

MR. HOMER M. JESSEE, Principal

HOMER M. JESSEE—
Mathematics, Valparaiso University, B. S.; Indiana State Teachers' College, A. B.; University of Chicago.

Faculty of Valparaiso

DESSA MAE HUDSON—Commercial; Valparaiso University, B. C. S.; University of Chicago, Ph. B. Sings lustily and keeps interest alive in the Commercial Club. Drives shorthand, typing, and junior business into heads of V. H. S. students.

WILLIAM R. KENDALL—Science, History, Health Education; Butler University; Indiana State Teachers' College, B. S.; Graduate work, Indiana University. Still dotes on Readers' Digest. Mentors debaters. Wardens bees, bugs, snakes.

JOHN KOCH—German; Indiana State Teachers' College, A. B.; University of Michigan, A. M. Reminiscent of proverbial postman on holiday, id est, sponsors German Club.

CLARE MCGILlicuddy—Mathematics; Valparaiso University, A. B.; University of Chicago; Columbia University. Geometrical genius. Sponsors adolescent part of Girl Reserves. Operates interurban bus—less franchise.

MARY STEVENS MYERS—Music; Indiana State Teachers' College, B. S.; Metropolitan Conservatory of Music; Columbia University; Chicago Conservatory of Music. Girls' teacher of euphonies. Her octettes sing immeasurably well. Produces operettas and presents musical score of annual Christmas Pageant.

MARGARET BARTHOLOMEW—Home Economics; DePauw University; Valparaiso University; University of Chicago; Columbia University. Supervises vending of home-made delicacies. Teaches age-worn adage—the way to a man's heart detours through his main organ of digestion.

JOSEPH B. BROWN—Industrial Arts; Indiana University, A. B.; University of Illinois, A. M. Demonstrates efficiency with the hickory in the spring. Teaches tumblers. Carries out proverb, "All the world loves a rotund man."

HAZEL L. BUTLER—Mathematics; Indiana University, A. B.; Graduate work, University of Chicago; Colorado University.

BURTON L. CONKLING—English, Public Speaking, Dramatic Art; State University of Iowa, A. B.; Winona College; Manchester College. Takes paternal interest in all his students. Smooths greasepaint of Footlight Masqueraders.

EMMA R. FOOR—English, Journalism; Earlham College, A. B.; Graduate work, University of Chicago; University of Minnesota. Consistently wins high honors annually with her Valpost and Valenian.

MARY JO HOLLARS—Physical Education; Indiana University; Indiana State Teachers' College, B. S.; University of Wisconsin, Graduate work. Teaches rhythmic convolutions. Keeps girlish figures girlish.

iso High School

CLAUDE O. PAULEY — Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics; Indiana State Teachers' College; Indiana University; University of Chicago, B. S. Dispels soporific tendencies from craniums of dilatory seniors. Holds gubernatorial powers in Scimus Club, and half interest in Senior class.

LEATHE C. PONADER—Art; Ball State Teachers' College, B. C.; Art Institute of Chicago; Booth Bay Harbor Studios. Has an aesthetic nature. Endeavors to transform V. H. S. students into second Rembrandts.

RALPH POWELL—History, Physical Education; Hanover College, A. B.; Franklin College; University of Iowa; Indiana University, M. S. Keeps order in usually refractory Athletic Club. Builds gargantuan teams from diminutive amount of material.

FRANK G. REID — Social Science; Indiana University; Purdue University; Valparaiso University, B. Sc. in Ed.; Graduate work, Butler University. Sees that stamp collectors keep collecting. Expounds on civics, political economy, relatives, and bizarre interests.

HAROLD ROGERS—Music; Illinois Wesleyan, B. M. E.; Syracuse University, graduate work. Wrought wonders with the marching band. Wields the baton in the Boys' Glee Club and also in the orchestra.

RALPH E. SCHENCK—Commercial, History; State Teachers' College, A. B.; Valparaiso University, A. B.; University of Chicago, M. A. Systematic disciple of the business world. Helps the president keep the Hi-Y out of lethargic state of existence.

VERA L. SIEB—English; University of Wisconsin, A. B.; Valparaiso University; University of Chicago; University of California; Columbia University. Shakespearian diction. Engulfs English students with multifarious, elongated words. Presides over junior class.

AUDREY SHAUER—English, History; Valparaiso University, A. B. New, nice, and naive. Sponsors third year girls' department of Girl Reserves. Prolocutor of English and history.

DOROTHY SMITH—School Nurse; Methodist Episcopal Hospital of Indianapolis; George Peabody Teachers' College; Iowa University; Indiana University. The lady who presses the ironed-out piece of pine on the tubercle hiding in the mouth.

EDITH WEEMS—Home Economics; Valparaiso University, B. S.; University of Chicago. School quæstor. Assistant supervisor of Home Economics Club. "A stitch in time —(We have forgotten the rest. Please oblige).

OLIE W. WELTY—Latin; Valparaiso University; University of Chicago. Takes care of all the candy, hence "the sweetest girl in school." Keeps dead languages alive. Owns other half of the senior class.

Pictures Capture Students and Teachers in Action

Here is one of MISS OLIE WELTY'S Latin classes deep in a study of Gaul's three parts. Constituting a cultural course, Latin may be had for two, three, or four years. The classes are made interesting by the actual living of the subject. Scrapbooks, projects, and field trips add immeasurably to the understanding of the students.—Except for the industrious clatter of keys, this picture depicts realistically the scene enacted each day in MISS HUDSON'S many typewriting classes. A practical course, typewriting and its complement, shorthand, are immensely popular. Miss Hudson's greatest worry is her lack of typewriters.—Custodian of guinea pigs, garter snakes, frogs, and turtles, MR. KENDALL also finds time to teach his biology and health education classes. Biology, a class of which is here shown in action, has grown rapidly in popularity in the last year, necessitating the forming of three different groups of students.—Dominating the lower regions of the school with his basso profundo voice is MR. BURTON CONKLING, vocalist, dramatist, and orator, seen here in a characteristic pose. The dramatics classes, one of which is seen below, are responsible for the plays given during the assembly periods and lend their talent to the production of the Christmas Pageant.—MISS SIEB, admirer and modern propagandist of William Shakespeare and his works, makes her classes models of interest and attention. It is questionable which is the greatest attraction, the work of the masters or Miss Sieb's sparkling wit. The camera seems to have caught a class in a solemn moment.

Wide Variety of Subjects Appeal to Students

Major Domo of the legions of the thimbled finger, MISS EDITH WEEMS radiates good spirits. A strict study hall disciplinarian, she believes in the law of room 122 (Work ends only when the bell rings). Laden with all necessary equipment, the class shown here is industriously learning how to thread a needle.—Sponsor of the high school's two publications, MRS. EMMA FOOR, better known as the Mighty Atom, also finds time to teach a number of English classes (in the same day). Owner of the only two-desked room in high school, she keeps hustling and expects the same from her students. The cut shows a strangely tranquil moment in the compilation of the Valpost.—MR. R. E. SCHENCK is known as the man with a dozen secretaries and a five minute plan for everything. He probably uses the mimeograph more than any other member of the faculty.

Bookkeeper, lawyer, and historian, in the course of the day, he manages to write a little on the side.—Lined with books, decorated with oil paintings of the sand dunes, and filled with students, the library daily presents a picture of applied industry. Containing everything from the current issue of Good Housekeeping to Chaucer's choice tid-bits, it tells the student everything but which way the teacher is looking. Sitting big as life on the "throne" in the middle of the room is MISS WEEMS. (I wonder if that boy is chewing gum?).—MISS MCGILLICUDDY is the mistress of the school's tangents and triangles. Handy with a piece of string and chalk, she probably drew the circle on the board before the picture was taken. Collector of yard sticks and colored chalk, she is still looking for a student who can trisect an angle, but hasn't found one as yet.

Study and Laboratory Periods Appeal to Students

Deeply immersed in the mysteries of the test tube, as is shown in the cut, is one of Mr. Pauley's chemistry classes. "C. O.", controller of the most of the upper hall, bounds from one room to another, instructing students in physics, chemistry, advanced algebra, and trigonometry. Famed as head recommender for Standard Oil Company, he is also an outspoken enemy of "mud-pie" chemists.—Kindly and respected, MISS BARTHOLOMEW oversees the learning of the community's future cooks. Under her tutoring, smells arise from the vitamin laboratories and waft out into the halls to tantalize the poor students who chose ancient history instead of domestic arts. In the picture, preparations are being made for the usual Wednesday lunch. Before long—"Soup's On". Oh dear!—Possessed of a voice which can outdo the loudest lathe, or student in the shop, MR. JOSEPH B. BROWN is the "lord of all he surveys." Owner of the fattest brief case in high school, he perfects ye students in the drawing of straight lines and the making of bread boards without splinters. Editor's note: The photographer practically had to threaten Mr. Brown with physical violence to get him in the picture. (Shy, you know).—Genial impresario of the high school, MRS. MARY MYERS, presents operettas, glee club recitals, runs the gamut from Rachmaninoff to Vincent Lopez's "knock-knocks", and occasionally leads in "America the Beautiful" on state occasions. She is seen here trying to get "la" out of a "do, do" bird.

Junior Class Outstanding in Accomplishments

Emerging from the sophomore class and entering in earnest upon the curricular and extra-curricular activities of the school, the Junior class was organized under the sponsorship of Miss Vera L. Sieb. Campbell Holt was chosen president, Bob Beach vice-president, and Charlotte Cavell secretary-treasurer. This class annually controls the largest social function of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom, a formal dance, entirely supervised by the school.

It has made several note-worthy contributions to the field of athletics, music, scholarship, and to the extra-curricular activities of the school. It has furnished a representative for every organization in the school. Donna Shurr and Mark Sink were outstanding for their musical talent, Hildegard Koch, Campbell Holt, and Phyllis Julian scholastically. In the field of athletics Kenneth Rhoda, Elroy St. Clair, Campbell Holt, and Robert Maudlin were outstanding.

Unorganized Sophomores Active in School Life

Minus the appellation of freshmen, the sophomores exhibited from the outset a decided interest in the life of the school, both in a scholastic and social way. They constitute one of the largest classes in V. H. S., but are unorganized. They have contributed members to every phase of school life, controlling important functions, in the various clubs of the school. Many of them made the honor-roll, and scholarship is valued highly by this class.

As a decided contrast to many sophomore classes, this one was always ready and willing to aid the freshmen in getting started and to acquaint them with the rules of the school, and the many problems which always confront new students.

Valenian Staff Devotes Year to Publication

Typing, writing, camera snapping, proofreading, the compilation of the Valenian goes on to the tune of the wrinkled brows, tired eyes, and fingers stricken with writer's cramp.

Nine members of the Valenian staff work a period or more a day during the year with the journalism adviser, Mrs. Emma R. Foor, to create and edit the year book of Valparaiso High School.

Each fall the task of selecting the theme of the book is encountered by the staff. This solved, the general literary style, book arrangement, art work, and method of photographic presentation must be worked out. Dozens of artistic illustrations, reams of written copy, and scores of photographs are sifted to find the material which will comprise the book. This being completed, the staff must also type all this copy.

Covers offered by competing companies are carefully compared for durability, beauty, and pertinence to the book's general theme.

Frequent consultations with the printer and careful proofreading serve to present the material in as pleasing a manner and as correct a literary style as is possible.

The book, completed by units, is now assembled and presented to the student body.

The staff is elected by the senior class. The editor-in-chief and the business manager are elected during the junior year and the remaining members the following year. This serves to provide a continuity between the efforts of each year's class as the editor-in-chief and business manager serve a semester's apprenticeship under the preceeding staff.

This year a general journalistic theme was used. The staff attempted to portray in the pages of the year book not only school life but also the world of professional and scholastic journalism.

The book was written with columns and headlines. Each article was written in the style of a newspaper story. An attempt was made to have the literary style quick, crisp, and informal.

The art work was unique. Figures cut from headlines and news articles printed in our school paper, The Valpost, and pertinent to the subjects, introduced the various sections of the book. Small scenes of newspaper work decorated the pages, and the cover was chosen to further carry out the theme.

Journalism Classes Provide Valpost Staffs

A bi-weekly publication representing the efforts of the advanced journalism class, the Valpost, records the events and reflects the attitude of the high school.

Journalism, a year's course, has two classes, beginning and advanced. The lower class studies the mechanics of journalism and gains experience in writing the many types of stories which must appear in a newspaper, composing headlines and story leads, paper makeup, and proofreading.

The advanced class is intrusted with the publication of the Valpost. News sources must be tapped, columns written, editorials composed and features completed. This raw material is then sorted and apportioned throughout the paper in keeping with sound rules of journalism. Headlines are written and the final proofreading follows before the paper is finally ready for publication.

The paper is financed by advertisements which are solicited from the local merchants by the fall staff. This staff starts collections which are finished by the spring staff.

The paper alternates between a four and six page issue depending on attendant circumstances.

Active management and general supervision is provided by the journalism instructor, Mrs. Emma R. Foor.

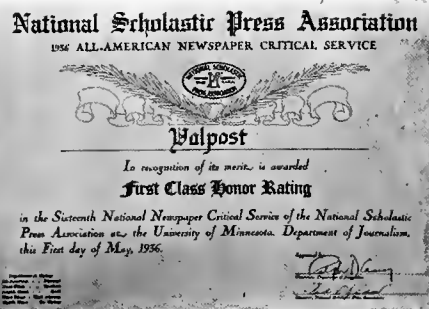

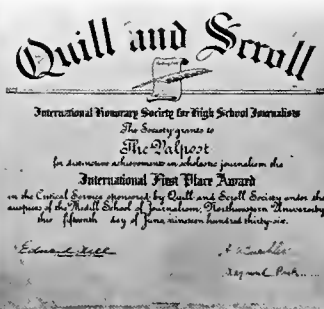

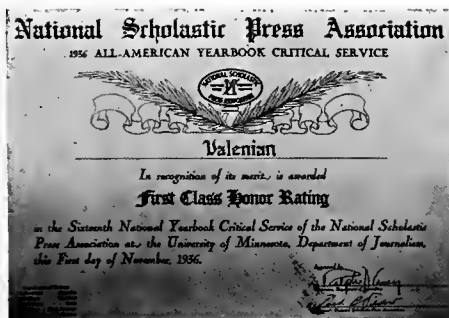

News assignments are proportioned among the staff by the faculty adviser. These offerings are augmented by contributions from the first journalism class and the student body.

VALPOST AND VALENIAN AWARDS

The Quill and Scroll award is given every year by Northwestern University while the National Scholastic Press association awards are given by Minnesota University. All entries are made in the spring of the year. The awards are announced early in the fall.

Commercial and Home Economics Clubs Have Large Enrollment

Under the direction of Miss Bartholomew and Miss Weems girls interested in home arts receive their training. The Home Economics Club is a member of both the state and national society of Home Economics Organizations. As one of their projects this year, the girls took orders for and baked fruit cakes during the Christmas season. They also staged the Home Economics Bazaar at which things made by the girls were sold to those in attendance. The major social functions of the club are a Christmas party, a Valentine party, and a faculty tea.

The Commercial Club attracts that large group of students in V. H. S. who are especially interested in commercial work. Miss Dessa Mae Hudson is the sponsor of this club, one of the largest in the school. At various times during the year guest speakers address the club on topics related to this type of work. One of the guest speakers obtained was Mr. Robert Lanham, court reporter in a local court, who spoke on the requirements and the qualifications necessary for this work. The two social functions of the year are the Christmas party and the spring banquet.

German Club and Tumblers Active

Valparaiso High School has but one foreign language club, the German Club. The aim of this organization is to help the German students put their German knowledge to practical use. Mr. John Koch is the sponsor of this organization which has one of the most enthusiastic memberships to be found in any of the clubs. During the course of the year the lives of German authors, musicians, and statesmen are studied, and several plays are written and produced by the members. A unique feature of this organization is that each of the members answers the roll call in German when his or her name is called. The outstanding social function of the year is a Christmas party held in Mr. Koch's room at the high school during the Christmas season.

In order that those boys not proficient enough in athletics to make the varsity teams might participate in some form of athletics, Mr. J. B. Brown organized the Tumbling Club in 1931. This club has enjoyed signal success from the very beginning not only in providing recreation for the boys but also in providing entertainment for various of the town's clubs and civic organizations. This year the members of the Tumbling Club have performed at the Elk's Club, participated in a meet at LaPorte and performed between halves of several university and high school basketball games to the great enjoyment of the spectators. Last spring the club held a meet which displayed the talents of several of the Calumet region's high school teams.

Hi-Y Prominent as Service Club in Community

Primarily a service organization, the Hi-Y has from its inception endeavored to be of service to its school and community. The local Hi-Y is affiliated with both the state and national organizations of which the parent organization is the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Ralph E. Schenck is the sponsor of this club and as such advises the board and members on questions of policy and matters regarding the general welfare of the club. The board itself is composed of the officers plus one or two of the leading members of the club. The board meets weekly to discuss and solve problems confronting it.

This year the Hi-Y presented to the school for use at basketball games a board upon which the players' names, positions, and numbers were listed and also furnished two boys to operate it at each home basketball game.

Among the other activities sponsored by the club are: the second-hand book store, the courtesy campaign, the checkroom at basketball games, sale of schedule pencils, ushering of students at gymnasium convocations, and the distribution of Christmas baskets. Among the other activities it conducts are the annual Hi-Y Father and Son Alumni banquet, attendance at Hi-Y conferences, including the national Hi-Y conference attended by President Bob James, and the Camp Tecumseh conference attended by President Bob James, Vice-president John Morland, and Secretary Bernard Cinkoske. The membership of the club is limited to thirty-five. The new members are selected by vote of the club. The members selected must go through a special period of training before being formally inducted. They must also be approved by the board and the administration. This club elects its officers yearly, the sergeant-at-arms being appointed by the president.

Senior, Junior Girl Reserves Merit High Rank

The service organization for the girls of Valparaiso High School is the Girl Reserve Club. This club has no restriction on memberships, any girl desiring to belong may join if she will uphold the standards and tenets of her club. There are three divisions or units of this club. First, the Senior Girl Reserves, composed of all the seniors belonging to the club, they select their own officers, have their own sponsor and conduct their own meetings separate from those of the other two Girl Reserve Clubs.

The second club is the Junior Girl Reserves who likewise have their own officers, sponsor and club meetings, and the same is true of the third group, the freshman-sophomore group. These clubs do co-operate with each other, however, and hold joint meetings once or twice a year.

The girls employ a point system to govern the allotment of sweaters. To get a sweater one must have been a member of the Girl Reserves for at least two years and must have earned at least 100 points. The points are secured by attending church, serving on committees, extra curricular activities, going to visit sick people, special work on programs and various other ways.

The girls of both the senior and junior clubs conduct their own meetings as a rule with their own members providing the program. At different times during the year outside speakers are obtained to address the girls on subjects which are of particular interest to a group of girls such as the Girl Reserves. During the first semester Mrs. Avery B. Weaver, a graduate of Valparaiso High School and also of Valparaiso University, addressed this group for the second time in as many years.

Miss Hazel Butler, who passed away last February was sponsor of the senior group. Miss Shauer sponsors the juniors and Miss McGillicuddy and Miss McCoy look after the freshman-sophomore group.

Younger Girl Reserves Enthusiastic About Club's Ideals

The largest grouping of the Girl Reserve organization is that of the freshman-sophomore club. Drawing their membership from the two classes that their name indicates these girls carry forward their share of the Girl Reserve work. At their meetings, which are held every other Monday, the problems of girls are discussed and business is taken up.

Usually the girls conduct these discussions themselves, however, each year a guest speaker is secured to address them. This year Mrs. Roy B. Julian addressed the girls on the theme of "Manners."

Some of the activities which these girls carry forward as part of their club work are the preparation of the Christmas baskets for the needy, ushering at the demonstration night school, and at the Christmas Pageant, and as one major contribution the sale of Christmas seals in downtown business establishments and in the school. Miss McGillicuddy and Miss McCoy are the sponsors of the group.

This club is an integral part of the Girl Reserve organization and considering the size of the combined membership of the three clubs the co-ordination between them is remarkable.

Footlight Masqueraders Provide Entertainment

All members of the dramatics classes are members of the Footlight Masqueraders, a club sponsored by Burton L. Conkling. At the meetings of this club the various topics relative to dramatics and dramatizing are discussed, and as a project each student builds a miniature stage or makes up some other member of the class for some character part. Make-up is given considerable attention, although the facilities are very limited for this type of work.

Each year this club stages several plays before the high school as a part of its program. The work involved in staging these plays is long, tedious, and exacting. Parts must be learned, equipment and make-up secured, and practices must be held. The practices often begin as early as seven A. M. and last until eight thirty A. M. Each of the actors takes his part and tries to interpret the character he is to depict, so that he will be able to give a better performance than he otherwise could give.

Some of the plays given this year before the regular Wednesday morning convocations and special groups were The Knave of Hearts, The Bishop's Candlesticks, Peace I Give Unto You, Queen Anne's Lace, Is Romance Dead? He Troups to Conquer, Elmer, Dear Lady be Brave, and The Crown of St. Felice.

The Footlight Masqueraders also enacted Peace I Give Unto You before the Mathesis Club.

Below you may see a scene from The Knave of Hearts, one of the best plays to be given this year.

Sciemus, Stamp Club Interested in Special Subjects

The Valparaiso High School Sciemus Club is composed of students who have a particular interest in science and its advances. Under the sponsorship of Mr. C. O. Pauley, visits are made to some of the city's industrial plants. During the year competent speakers in the fields of science are secured to address the Science Club on topics of interest because of their connection with the work of science. The Science Club sent fourteen of its members to the Junior Academy of Science held at Danville Central Normal College during the month of November, and of the fourteen, one, David Williams, was elected vice-president of that organization for the ensuing year, and William Savery was defeated for the treasurer by one vote.

Increasing its membership yearly since its inception, the Valparaiso High School Stamp Club under the direction of F. G. Reid and the club officers has succeeded in creating a wider interest in this hobby among V. H. S. students. This is one of the youngest of all the high school clubs. It was organized by Principal H. M. Jessee in 1933 upon the request of the Senior Stamp Club of Valparaiso. The club meetings consist in the main of discussions of the various methods of collecting stamps and displaying the stamp collections of the members of the club. Several of the members of the Senior Stamp Club have displayed their collections to the Junior Stamp Club in order to stimulate an even greater interest in this work.

Novice Debaters Have Successful Season

The newest organization of V. H. S. is the Debating Club, which was organized at the beginning of the first semester. This club had as its aim and purpose to encourage the theory, practice, and technique of debating. It has a small but enthusiastic membership under the direction of William R. Kendall, who is also the coach of the debating team.

The regular meetings of the club are on every other Tuesday morning, at which meetings general discussions of debating and articles from the Readers' Digest are reviewed. The members of the debating teams which were selected from the club because of their special ability and interest in debating, represented the school in carrying forward its schedule in the Indiana Debating League, of which the local club is a member.

The teams are composed of two persons for the affirmative team and two for the negative, each team having two alternates. In the major number of debates John Morland was the first affirmative speaker and Bob James was the second affirmative speaker, Charles Kern the alternate. For the negative team the work was evenly divided between Jean Morland and Bernard Cinkoske first negative speakers, and Doris Lawrence and Delayne Kumnick, second negative speakers. These teams debated all the major teams of Northern Indiana including Brook, Chesterton, and Crown Point while the negative team scored an outstanding victory in a triangular debate against Knox. Next year, with the initial year of debating past and with Doris Lawrence, negative, and Charles Kern, affirmative, speakers around which a team will be built, Mr. Kendall hopes to even better the fine record established by this year's teams. A more thorough schedule will be arranged and a more satisfactory method of attack on finding related material to the question at hand will be developed.

The social event of the season for the Debating Club is a party held in the spring.

Boys', Girls' Glee Clubs Oldest Organizations

Valparaiso High School has two glee clubs, one for boys and one for girls. The Girls' Glee Club is directed by Mrs. Mary Myers and Harold L. Rogers is director of the Boys' Glee Club. Of the two the girls' club has the larger membership although both clubs have an adequately large membership to furnish the necessary different types of voices.

For the first time in several years no operetta was presented due to the great amount of preparation needed for it, and the cost of producing it. The glee clubs each year perform before the student body at the regular convocations and this year presented a joint concert at the conclusion of the demonstration night school held during the first semester. Credit is given for glee club work. Tryouts were given shortly after school opened this year to determine the ability of those students wishing to belong to the glee clubs although no student really interested in this line of work who can carry a tune is denied entrance.

Orchestra and Band Gain Recognition, Awards

Playing under the leadership of a new director, Harold L. Rogers, the V. H. S. Band represented the high school by playing at both football and basketball games and at Wednesday morning convocations. Some of the highlights in the activity of the band for the past year were the winning of a prize for their excellence during the Porter County Centennial and playing at one out of town football game held at Lowell between the Lowell High School team and the Vikings. Both the band and the orchestra meet twice each week; the band meets every Tuesday night in a regular practice session. One fifth of a credit is given for band or orchestra work, the grades being given at the regular grading periods by the director.

Mr. Rogers is also the director of the orchestra and has built the orchestra up to its greatest membership in years. The growth of the orchestra has seen a corresponding increase in the quality of the music played. Folk songs, modern pieces, and classical numbers were intermingled to make the orchestra's recitals both enjoyable and memorable. A number of orchestra members are also in the band. This enables Mr. Rogers to give these key members even more instruction than would be normally possible. In addition students have extra practice periods.

Freshman Party, Double Quartette Popular Activities

Each year the Valparaiso High School Hi-Y club together with the Girl Reserves stages a Freshman party. This party is for all students who are entering Valparaiso High School for the first time. Its real purpose is to serve as an introduction to the social life of V. H. S. students and to acquaint the new students with their teachers, the sponsors of the two service organizations, the Hi-Y, and the Girl Reserves, and to acquaint them also with the membership of these clubs; so that when they have an opportunity to join one of these organizations, they will not be entirely unfamiliar with the clubs and their members.

This year, as in former years, the Hi-Y arranged the games as its part of the party, while the Girl Reserves furnished a play and the refreshments after the party. For this party the entire group was divided into ten groups with equal numbers, each group choosing the name of a Big Ten school for its name. Each of the ten groups entered one or more persons in the games, some of which were carrying beans on a knife, two-legged races, peg games, and clothes pin games; and the school whose contestant won, received three points for first place, the school that placed second, two points, and the school that placed third, one point.

The games that attracted the widest interest were the apple eating contest, and the contest in which the student tried to drink a bottle of coca-cola through a nipple.

The final entertainment of the evening was the Hi-Y mock court of which Bob James was judge, John Morland, attorney for the defense, and Bob Kitchen, state's attorney. Some of the persons tried were Russel Lane, Charles Kern, and Jean Stinchfield, all of whom were found guilty.

DOUBLE QUARTETTE

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Stevens Myers the double quartette has made real progress in the past few years. Yearly it entertains many of the social and professional organizations in Valparaiso and adjoining communities, and in nearly every instance is accorded another invitation to return. This group has as members, Ruth Larson, Willard Justice, Roy Harlow, James Horney, Bob Hurley, Gertrude Davidson, Harriet Rex, and Anne Wharton; Mark Sink is the pianist. Regular practices are held during which time new songs are learned and sung, and voice training which is necessary to such an organization's membership is thereby acquired. Some of the groups entertained by the double quartette were the South Bend Teachers' Association, Porter County All-Talent Day, The Music Festival, The Valparaiso Women's Club, and The Cooks Corner's Parent-Teachers' Association.

May Festival Beautiful Spring Pageant

Each year the physical education department presents a spectacular festival. It includes the children of the fourth and fifth and sixth grades, junior and senior high schools. Elaborate settings and costumes enhance the beauty of this occasion. Below are some of the scenes and settings and groups that made up this evening's entertainment.

Miss Mary Jo Hollars, aided by the grade and high school teachers, produced this festival. Dances that showed grace and skill made up a greater part of the program. Miss Hollars tried to show the progress of the work throughout the grades and high school. This festival has become a tradition in the Valparaiso schools.

A member of the V. H. S. faculty for the past seven years, Ralph Powell has established an enviable record as a coach and a teacher.

His accomplishments become more apparent when one realizes the fact that he coaches football, basketball, track, and, for awhile, baseball, in addition to teaching history and physical education classes.

His achievements need be told no longer—they speak for themselves.

MARY JO HOLLARS

A comparative juvenile in the longevity of her teaching career at Valparaiso, Miss Mary Jo Hollars has accomplished more than a juvenile's allotment of work in the past two years.

She has directed two May Festivals and Christmas Pageants. An accomplished athlete, she is equally proficient in archery, soccer, baseball, basketball, volleyball, and track.

Mary Jo Hollars

Each Season Has Its Own Sports

From the first day of school to the last, a multitude of athletic activities capture the enthusiasm, ability, and energy of V. H. S. students.

Football in the fall never fails to evoke a large number of aspirants. With the advent of snowstorms and frigid winds, athletes take refuge in the gymnasium to indulge in the king of Indiana sports—basketball. In March, April, and May, track receives part of the limelight. Revived last year, track bids fair to become one of the leading sports. Also omnipresent is baseball. This sport has always proved popular and sees a large turnout each spring. Golf is a sport of no mean dimensions. Starting in the fall and lasting until summer, the noonday league attracts many non-team high school boys. The tumbling club has always enjoyed great popularity and always has a good team.

Football Varsity Has Winning Season

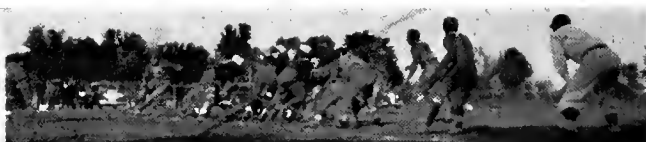

The Valparaiso High School's football team ended the season considerably better than the year previous. Out of the possible eight wins, two were won, four lost, and two tied. Under the new leadership of John Wiggins, who hailed from Morgan High School, and assistant coach, Ralph Powell, the team took on new life and showed a vigor usually heard of but never seen before. The first tilt of the season was with Rensselaer, which ended in a tie, 6-6. Although disheartening, due to the fumbles and bad judgment, on the whole the game proved highly encouraging.

The second trial of the Viking's gridiron power was displayed in a hard-fought game on Plymouth's homecoming day. After being on the defensive end the first half, the Viking's rallied, only to fall short, not of touchdowns but of goal-kicking. Plymouth 14—Valparaiso 12.

With passes snapping, punts soaring, legs churning, scores rising, the Vikings rolled a victory over Tolleston at Brown Field 20-14. On a rain-soaked field, the Viking eleven dueled a heavily-armed LaPorte team to a tie, 7-7. Jankowski and Broome, fullback keymen for each team, both scored a touchdown in the first half; and the attempted extra points were good.

Hammond Tech's tough Tigers again clawed their way successfully through the Vikings for a 22-6 victory. Harshbarger accounted for the only Valpo tally when he crashed through right guard for a touchdown. Hammond Tech scores came from Hegedus and Ritthaler to cinch the game.

Despite the Uremovich juggernauts, the Viking eleven took a hard-fought game from Hobart 13-6. Chester took an aerial from Jankowski to provide the first Valpo score. After a 40 yard penalty, Greenspan reversed left end and reached the Valpo 0 yard tape. Later Jankowski scored behind good blocking for the winning touchdown.

A leviathan of power, the Hammond Clark football eleven, invaded Boucher Field and came out the decided victor 27-0. Capitalizing on breaks and Viking defensive lapses, Mike Kampo, fullback scored in each period netting 26 points.

Heartbreaking news for Viking fans, Lowell 7—Vikings 6. The Valpo score occurred in the second quarter when Bob Rhoda crashed over after two attempts. Outstanding in the game was the Viking's all-senior line composed of Wells, Swelstad, J. Chester, Cole, Masterson, Rhoda, and R. Chester, which proved a great help in the defensive play.

Seconds Show Pluck and Ability

The first of the three games occurred when Valpo met Plymouth on their own field and drew a tie 0-0. The game was marked by offensive play. Vikings were in scoring position twice. A trial for victory by Tolleston at Valparaiso fell short by one point 13-12. Valpo's first score occurred when Reinke skirted left end and raced down across the 0 yard tape. Tolleston scored a touchdown in the third quarter on a long pass. Valpo worked the ball down into the opposition's territory; then Clifford eased around right end, and a spectacular six-foot dive carried him across. In the fourth quarter Tolleston flipped a lateral behind their line of scrimmage, then threw a pass, the receiver racing sixty yards for the final score. A windy, cold day opened the rivalry between Michigan City and Valparaiso. Maudlin scored on crashing through the center of Michigan City's line. Point conversion was executed on a pass from Suesse to Maudlin in the end zone.

From every class, freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors erstwhile football players trotted to the playing field directly behind the powerhouse to limber up knees, elbows, and other joints that needed the oil of practice. Working with the fundamentals, running, jumping, and other exercises Coach Powell developed a machine comprised of human beings that looked like a professional squad, clicking smoothly, due to the many hours on the practice field.

Practice started directly after school dismissal and usually ended at dark or about six-thirty. Both the first and second teams use the same facilities and practice at the same time, one going up the field one way while the other is coming down.

During the course of practice, occasionally a "second stringer" will get his chance to play with the first team. If he does well, he might receive either a berth or another chance; if not, he is sent back to receive more training and experience.

The team was not unusually large but was made up of a group averaging perhaps 150 pounds. The usual lineup was as follows: Charles Clifford and Dale Gott, ends; Robert Hurley and Lloyd Pinkerton, tackles; Robert Stoner and Ted Chekouras, guards; with Steve Kriston at center. The backfield was composed of Charles Suesse, quarterback; Robert Maudlin, fullback; Guy Wellman and Morris Reinke, halfbacks.

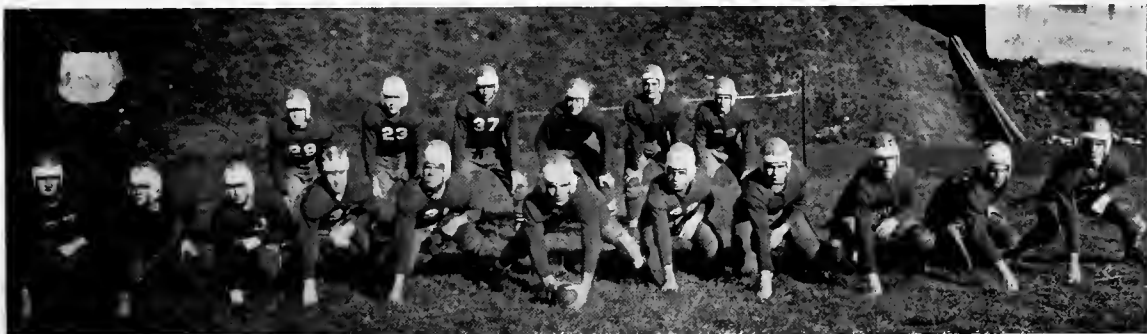

Material for future football teams should be forthcoming, for instead of relaxing on the bench and waiting to be called upon, these boys continually "got in the coach's hair" and asked to be put into the game.

Basketball Varsity Third in Conference

Valparaiso High School's most popular sport, basketball, started with a crash-bang when the Vikings placed the first victory "on the shelf." Valpo came, saw, and conquered the Hobart quintet by a 35-14 triumph. Kane was high-point man netting seven points.

Bringing out defensive play to a maximum, the Vikings defeated Crown Point 25-13. Witner and Kane led the attack with 5 points each.

Starting the Western Division campaign with an overtime, Valpo defeated Hammond 27-23. At the start of the overtime, Carroll Sheets knocked down a pass, dribbled half the length of the floor and scored. Frenzied attempts by Hammond to score in the waning seconds failed.

A basketball game with a nerve-racking finish never showed its face 'till Valpo squeezed out Warsaw 27-26. Jankowski hit from near mid-floor in the fourth quarter. With one point to go in almost as many seconds, Chester dropped one through almost after the gun crashed.

Emerson 29—Valpo 23; such was the score staring the undefeated Valpo quintet in the face after its encounter with the Norsemen. At the beginning of the second quarter, Henson, replacing Jankowski, dribbled in, scored; St. Clair cut in, scored; and Sheets intercepted a pass, scored. Although now 23-23, the rally fell short and tallies by Collins and Tombers sewed up the game for Emerson.

A Viking victory of one point, 23-22, over Roosevelt, East Chicago, was revenge for the Emerson defeat. Jankowski garnering eight points, led the Vikings to victory, closely followed by Witner and Kane 7 and 5, respectively. Henson's free throw and long, kept the Riders from scoring a victory. Glover's two baskets in three shots, Witner's three in eleven, Henson's two in nine: all these did not win the game; for Valpo lost to Washington, East Chicago, 27-23.

A non-conference game, tied with Elkhart, gave the Vikings both practice and experience. Kane's height halted the Blazer's rally in the third quarter; from then on bucket-sniping waxed hot with Jankowski, Sheets, and Glover tallying seemingly at will. Close games were the vogue, Valpo pulled a 32-29 victory out of the fire in the last minute over Lew Wallace. One point behind, in the last minute Jankowski arched a long one to bring Valpo into a one-point lead. Henson dribbled in and scored making the victory complete.

Mann defeated Valpo 33-29. Superior field sniping seemed to be the key. A dazzling victory 30-27 over Froebel at Gary marked a new high for the Viking five. In the last quarter Witner scored on Henson's rebound. Glover then took a pass from Kane and scored to give Valpo victory.

The Vikings shellacked Whiting 33-25. Witner and Glover were the "hot" men, both with nine points. Valpo started the game with a spectacular one-hand shot by Kane followed by excellent team work and shooting ability.

Competition between Valpo and LaPorte resumed heat when LaPorte defeated the Vikings 23-22. Henson, after tying the score, fouled Lubner, who didn't miss.

Jack Chester's second heroic role came into play when the Vikings nosed out Hammond 27-26. Chester sank a hooked shot to give the Vikings the game.

Unlimited goal sniping proved a great factor in determining the outcome of the Lew Wallace-Valpo game which was taken by Valpo 49-32. On both teams scoring was regular and accurate.

The Viking's hopes for a conference championship were smothered under a withering blast of basket-shooting by Emerson. At the outset Valpo looked good, but unusually fine follow-ups, tips, and net-ruffling gave Emerson a decisive victory.

Ten points in five minutes gave LaPorte a 29 to 21 victory. Bad passing on fast breaks gave the LaPorte team the ball, consequently baskets.

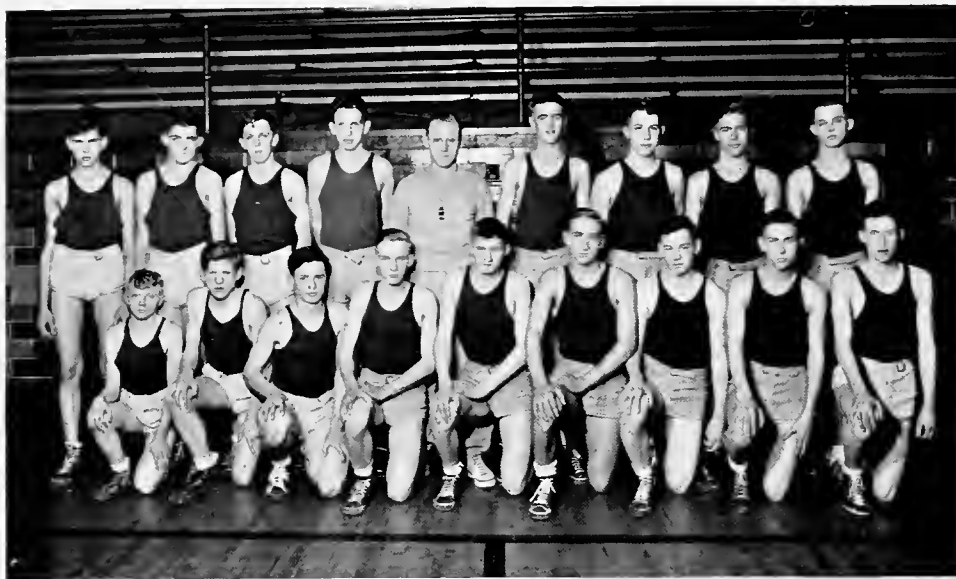

A surprising score, Valpo 32—Roosevelt 17. Witner and Jankowski netted six points each to lead the scoring field.

Horace Mann, the division leader, took a close game from the Viking quint 33-28. Accurate sharpshooting proved Harmon's uncanny asset, while Kane's height proved his.

Completely trouncing an unsuspecting Michigan City team, Valpo scored a victory 45-20 to end its hardwood season with 12 wins in 20 starts.

2. Chester shoots—St. Clair guards, Henson anticipates.

Junior Vikings Promise Good Future Varsity

The main attraction before each varsity game, the Viking Reserves, made up of two classes, freshmen and sophomores, indulge in two schedules, conference and non-conference. Playing hard, clean basketball, like true sportsmen, is a noticeable feature of the reserve games. Not unlike the varsity, the reserves are coached by Mr. Ralph Powell. Players in their respective positions are as follows: Charles Skinner and Roland Sheets, center; Robert Rhoda, Guy Wellman, John Stoner, Robert Maudlin, guards; Lawrence Dahl and Robert Slingerland, forwards. Able substitutes, Elroy St. Clair, Raymond Phillips, and Campbell Holt completed the reserve squad.

With eleven games won out of twenty, it certainly looks as if the varsity squad of next year will have some very capable players. Three of these games were only one point either to the winning or losing end.

The reserves practice at the same time as the varsity and in many cases scrimmage with them. This gives them a chance in experiencing faster breaks, taller players, and harder shots to block.

The highest scorers and possibly the best all-round players were Charles Skinner, a tall, lanky, six foot-one inch center, and Robert Rhoda, a fast, hard-driving, accurate-shooting guard. These two co-operating in both offensive and defensive play stood out distinctly as the Viking bulwarks, a challenge for opposing teams to overcome.

Individual scoring is as follows:

Valpo Nine Excels in Fielding, Pitching

Early in the season Valparaiso High School students take up the cry of the most popular sport in the United States, baseball. Gloves, bats, balls are certain indications that soon "men with spikes," will be working on the diamond exhibiting all in the wares of hooks, drops, and curves. Although considered a minor sport in V. H. S., baseball waves its hands and students come running from every corridor and hall in the building. The nine comprised of Brice McCann, James Stoner, Kenneth Rhoda, Harold Henson, Courtney Holt, Carroll Sheets, Herbert Claudon, Robert Thorgren, and Robert Pierce proved a squad of sportsmen with the zealous ambition to win games which, of course, they did. The coaches, Mr. Brown and Mr. Pauley, helped in spirit and gave tips to the players, which proved a great aid. Baseball, not always as pleasant as in the training camps of the big leagues, is sometimes a great deal too disagreeable, having to be played in all sorts of weather, rain, snow, or sunshine. Practice starts directly after school and ends usually at dark, and sometimes is held over for a few jogs around the diamond.

Track and Golf Popular Spring Sports

The "thinlies", the name with which the baseball team dubbed the track squad, held more truth than mirth. On the Valparaiso High School cinder track and vault pits, brown, lithe, muscular athletes practiced to compete in field meets which were to be held in the future.

Coach Powell resumed track after it had been dropped from the athletic activities for several years. By the end of the season, the team had competed against Hobart, Michigan City, Tolleston, and Chesterton. The team also engaged in a conference at Mishawaka and the sectional meet at Gary. Outstanding in the meets were: Campbell Kane, Robert Kitchen, Roger Henry, Edmund Sawyer, Robert Rhoda, Harold Jones, and Russell Glover.

This year the track squad should prove to be a great sporting asset to the school since only one of the group graduated, and the experience gained by the squad through last year's encounters will be a big factor towards a successful season.

Early in the spring future aspirants for the National Open golf championship trek to the Country Club to practice swinging drivers and brassies. Although this vision might be somewhat fanciful, the golf team is the pick of V. H. S. golfers and truly deserves recognition almost as fitting as the National Open.

The four golfers composing the team were John Ruge, Adolph Jankowski, Robert Beach, and James Mahoney. Six matches were won, one tied, and five were lost. Ruge played number one position, Jankowski number two, Mahoney number three, and Beach number four. Mr. William Kendall was the golfing coach.

Noonday League Offers Variety of Sports

For those who are not occupied in active competition by the sports of the school, noonday league offers its many branches of athletics, the main ones including basketball, softball, and football. Basketball is the major activity, drawing many spectators from the school to witness the games which are all played during the noon hour. About ten minutes are allowed to eat lunch; the whistle is blown, and shouting in the gymnasium indicates that the game is about to begin. Those teams participating this year in basketball were captained by James Zimmerman, David Gott, Robert Beach, Frank Leachman, Robert Hurley, Edward Skinner, Robert Benton, Kenneth Rhoda, James Horney, and Dwight Arndt. Gott and Zimmerman tied for first place in both the first and second rounds of play. Zimmerman has a slight edge due to the fact that the first round playoff was won by that team.

The second major activity of the noonday leaguers is softball. Teams are organized and under their respective heads competition waxes hot throughout the season. The captains of the teams are as follows: William Windle, Leonard Kraft, Merritt Church, Robert Peters, Thomas Kiriazis, Hilton Gramps, Hubert Harshbarger, and Raymond Berndt.

Although a non-organized sport in noonday league, football holds its own as a drawing attraction to the youths. Merely, first there first play, is the slogan. In football, noonday leaguers choose teams among themselves and play until time for school to resume. Coach Powell is the overseer of all boys' noonday league activities.

Junior, Senior G. A. A. Boast Large Membership

Last spring the G. A. A. members elected their officers for the ensuing year; namely, president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. The remaining members of the G. A. A. Board were selected by the senior members that served on the Board last year, together with the suggestions of Miss Hollars. These remaining Board members comprise the managers of each individual sport and chairmen for the social activities scrapbook, and art manager.

The G. A. A. Board holds special meetings to decide on certain points and problems, all of which are voted on by the organization at a regular meeting.

At the end of the year, the non-senior members of the Board select the most outstanding senior girl, to whom is presented the G. A. A. cup with her name and the year engraved on it, on Award Day. Last year this cup was awarded to Ann Maulsby. The cup remains the property of the school and is kept by the school.

The main social function of the year is the basket-ball banquet at which the numerals, monograms, and chevrons are awarded. Also at the termination of the soccer season a picnic is held annually. The attendance at these functions is usually 100%. Other features of the G. A. A. program are the play days which are sponsored by the different G. A. A. organizations of the county and state for the purpose of getting better acquainted, rather than for competition.

G. A. A. Girls Choose Sports

The Girls' Athletic Association of Valparaiso High School allows all girls in the school to participate in the sports in which they are interested. The club is sponsored by Miss Mary Jo Hollars, girls' physical education instructor. The G. A. A. now has 150 active and associate members. Those who have earned 50 points and participate in the various sports are actives; those who have signified their intention of participating in the various activities are associate members.

Last year the G. A. A. became a member of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, whose purpose is to combat certain unwholesome tendencies which hinder girls' athletics. This is one of the aims of the G. A. A., besides which the girls enjoy their recreation to the utmost, the play being fair and clean.

The G. A. A. holds bi-weekly meetings on Thursday mornings. The programs are in charge of a committee appointed each time by the president. This year the programs consisted of talks by the school nurse, Miss Smith, discussion by the members on points of the Constitution, reports of various sports' chairmen, pantomimes by members, and piano selections.

Girls Play Many Games at Noonday Hour

To offer the girls who stay at school during the noon hour suitable recreation, and for those who are unable to stay for the after-school activities, the G. A. A. provides a noonday league of sports.

These sports are divided into two classes, indoor and outdoor. The former consist of ping-pong, shuffleboard, tetherball, loop tennis, and bowling. The outdoor activities consist of health ball, horseshoe, badminton, and deck tennis.

In the outdoor activities last fall, horseshoe and health ball tournaments were run off. Delayne Kumnick was the health ball champion and Mary Muster was runner-up. In horseshoe, Evelyn Witner was the victor with Iva Mae Berkey runner-up.

When the weather became bad, the girls had to hold their games in the gym. Ping-pong tournaments, doubles and singles, were held. The winners were Martha Snow and Marge Field in the doubles, and Annadell Maxwell in the singles. The runners-up in these tournaments were Gladys Makovsky and Blanche Belaschky in the doubles and Evelyn Witner in the singles.

There are no class team tournaments held in these sports, but, nevertheless, the competition is just as keen as if there were.

The noonday league chairman, Evelyn Witner, is present every noon to supervise the games and record the events that take place.

Since the boys usually have the gym floor at noon, there is very little space for the girls. Consequently, the bowling and badminton tournaments had to be run off after the boys took up their noonday league baseball out of doors.

Twenty-five G. A. A. points are given for each sport, and winners and runners-up receive up to 25 points in addition.

Soccer Always a Popular Autumn Sport

The G. A. A. opened its season of sports last September with the game of soccer. The girls reported and were divided into teams of nine each by the soccer chairman, Charlotte Cavell.

The captains of the eleven teams were: Lucille Christopher, Mary Cleveland, Mariangeneen Helvie, Dorothy Kumnick, Berneice Brown, Betty Dobbins, Margaret Meagher, Beryl Ann Brownell, and Martha Snow. A Winner-Loser's tournament was held in which the winners played winners until there was a final winner. Captain Brown's No. 5 team played Captain Brownell's team No. 8 in the final game and defeated them by a score of 2-0.

Next the class teams were selected by the chairman and Miss Hollars. An elimination tournament was played—the seniors playing the juniors and the sophomores playing the freshmen. The winners of these two games then played for the championship. It so happened that the seniors after four years of soccer, decided to show the underclassmen just how the game should be played. They started out by defeating the juniors by a score of 2-1. Thus the juniors were eliminated. The next obstacle was the winner of the freshman-sophomore encounter, which was the sophomores, who had won by a score of 4-0. The seniors evidently were frightened by this large score and forgot how good they were, because the game was tied until the last few minutes, when the seniors had a chance to make good a penalty kick, which they did, making the final score 2-1.

Soccer is the first major sport of the year and takes up the first quarter of our year of sports. This is one of the most popular activities in the girls' program.

1. The kick-off in a game of soccer—the girls move up in a solid line.

4. Cavell takes the ball at the goal, thus showing defensive skill.
5. Betty Jean Ziegel kicks the ball from the goalkeeper's area.
6. The half-backs take the ball.

Volleyball Tilts Fast and Hilarious

Following the soccer season, volleyball became the major sport on the G. A. A. calendar. The girls that reported were divided into eight teams of thirteen each. The captains elected were in respective order: Doris Lutz, Martha Joyce Smith, Bernice Schneider, Evelyn Anderson, Edna Shideler, Nena Winder, Eileen Hurley, and Ann Lowenstine. Team 8 won the tournament that was played by winning all six games while Team 5, the runner-up, lost just one game.

Following the first tournament, class teams were picked by Miss Hollars and the volleyball chairman, Margaret Schramm. In the tourney the seniors were scheduled to play the sophomores, the juniors to play the freshmen. Of course, the seniors, thinking they could surely win the tourney, went into the game in an over-confident frame of mind. However, they were fooled, being defeated by the sophomores 19 to 10. The juniors showed their superiority over the freshmen by winning 33 to 18. The final game, as the score shows, was very exciting, neither team sure of victory until the final whistle. The freshmen came back after last year's defeat by the seniors and showed that they were a superior team.

Just before Christmas vacation, a team of picked high school girls played a team composed of alumni girls home for vacation, showing that girls must be improving in volleyball skill; the high school girls won 31 to 15. The team picked from the high school was composed of Margaret Schramm, Berneice Brown, Mariangeneen Helvie, Edna Shideler, Jean Morland, Beryl Ann Brownell, Mildred Warner, Ruth Wark, Nena Winder, Doris Lutz, and Charlotte Cavell.

Girls' Basketball Calls for Ability, Skill

After waiting patiently until after the Christmas holidays had passed, everyone looks forward to the favorite sport of G. A. A., girls' basketball. The ninety-six girls that reported were divided into A and B teams, with a possibility of getting on the A team or being put back on the B team at any time during the season. The A team consists of girls who are more advanced in the skill of playing, while the B team is made up of the less experienced ones.

The A team was divided into seven teams and the B team had nine. A round-robin tournament was run off, in which every team played every other team. In finding the winner of this tournament, a scoring was made. For winning a game a team received 2 points, for tying, 1 point. Team 3 of the division A won, having won all their games. Teams 4 and 9 tied for honors in the division, each winning all but one game, which was tied.

Class teams were selected by Miss Hollars and Edna Shideler, the chairman. The sophomores were to play the freshmen, the juniors to play the seniors. The sophomores beat the newcomers to the tune of 13-0, while the mighty seniors beat the juniors 15-8. The first and third year teams eliminated, the second and fourth year squads took up the battle. The seniors showed superiority, 10-2.

The captains of class teams were: seniors, Doris Lutz; juniors, Charlotte Cavell; sophomores, Carrie Shupe; and freshmen, Gladys Markovsky.

Girls Try Track, Baseball, Archery, Tennis

The minor activities on the G. A. A. calendar are archery, tumbling, baseball, tennis, track, and miscellaneous sports. Twenty-five G. A. A. points are given for winners or runners-up in tournaments.

The archery chairman was Charlotte Smith, who presided at the practices held after school. The winner of the tournament, in which the thirty-eight girls that reported participated, was Beryl Ann Brownell and the runner-up was Edna Shideler.

Tumbling, under its chairman, Martha Joyce Smith, was held just after the volleyball season. The girls were put on A and B teams according to their skill in the sport. To be on the B team, one had to pass six stunts; to be advanced to the A team, the girls were required to do ten stunts. These were: a head stand, a knee stand, stomach balance, backward and forward somersaults, a hand spring, an original stunt, jump over the two horses, walk along the ladder, and chinning.

Baseball and track followed the Easter vacation. Tournaments were run off and teams picked, and the elimination tournaments were then played. The girls then signed up for the various events in track, and these were run off by the chairman, Margaret Meagher.

The tennis season is enjoyed by all because it comes in the spring, when the weather is ideal and all G. A. A. members have the urge to get out doors to play. Tournaments, singles and doubles, were held, winners and runners-up were given extra G. A. A. points.

New activities this year were the miscellaneous sports, which the girls take part in outside of school, such as skating, hiking, bicycling, which though not under the supervision of any one person, are reported by the participants, and G. A. A. points are given accordingly.

In the last nine weeks given over to the four minor sports, track, baseball, archery, and tennis, baseball is the only one in which a class tournament as well as an elimination tournament is run off. Track events are run off as in a meet, and in archery the winner is determined by form, accuracy of shot, and distance.
